Dear Mr. Strong:

Your contact was certainly a call from the past. AAF Station III!! How long ago that was.

I'm delighted that you are undertaking the task of giving the 306th a proper place in the sun. It was a fine bunch of people and the record should reflect that fact.

I wish I could help you in a substantial way, but I have very little to send you. Back in those early times I was quite young (at one point reputedly the youngest (19) B-17 pilot in the Army A.C.); and when we are young we don't have much sense of history. Being so busy with the daily challenge of living (and at that time of surviving) we tend to travel fast and light and we give no thought to collecting historical data.

My time with the 306th was from October 1943 through June 1944. Sadly I lost my crew at an early date. My co-pilot, Charley Bayless had ambitions to be a first pilot and after we had flown 5 or 6 missions as a crew Charley was deemed qualified and he took the crew (except for Boswell the bombardier and myself) and went on his first - and last combat mission as first pilot. Although shot down all survived but were prisoners of war till the end of the war. Except for Kalish (the navigator) I don't know where the crew members are today.

Mr. Russell A. Strong:

Mike Kalish left active duty and after college joined the CIA. He is now retired and lives in MacLean, Virginia.

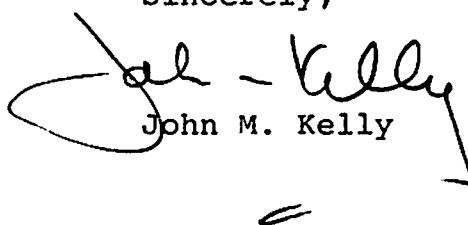

I remained on active duty through 1953, stayed on reserve status until 1961, and then joined the Retired Reserve as a Lt. Colonel.

When I returned from England in 1944 I met a girl (Violet E. Rothermel) who taking advantage of combat fatigued condition somehow arranged that we be married the following year. I guess that wasn't all bad, we are still putting up with one another, plus 3 daughters (2 married) and now five grandchildren.

I am in the property management business in Scranton and am also involved in a small way in some computer work.

I'll look forward to seeing your book.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "John M. Kelly". The signature is written in dark ink and is positioned above the printed name. There is a small horizontal line below the signature.
